Can you help your child to learn theirs off by heart?

We would really appreciate your support doing this with our younger ones.

TE WIKI O TE REO MAAORI

This week has been the official week for celebrating te reo Maaori. The school took part in the ka tuku te reo challenge on Monday which officially recorded more than 1,000,000 people speakin te reo at the same time.

This morning, following the gifting ceremony whereby Mana Whenua gifted the name Te Oko Horoi – the washbowl, Mana whenua came to school to talk to the children about their learning and how they are growing their understanding of Cambridge's history. The children and staff did a great job explaining what they knew and remembered.

Next term we have our school production which continues the theme and is written by the staff based on historical events that have shaped our local places as well as our nation – I wonder who will be Sir Ed.

WRITER'S CORNER

ROOM 2

Room 2 have been outside enjoying the sun and sketching their natural surroundings, then writing about their drawings.

Pokey branches so smoothly swaying in the rustling wind. It feels rough as bark. It feels so amazing. The gusting wind blows my legs. Outside it is freedom as I am planted straight in the ground. Little bugs get tangled in my roots.

Aria (7)

The wind blows on my face. It feels soft as I sway my branches. It feels nice. I get excited as my leaves fall off. The leaves are prickly. The stems are the prickliest. The roots grow up into the branches and everybody climbs it.

Toby (6)

The wind blows on my face. It makes me a little bit cold and it is a little bit warm. The sun comes on my face. The grass is moving and it makes my clothes move. Sometimes the grass moves and the trees blow and the sun is shining. The sun was so bright because it shines when it rains. The tree kind of moves the leaves are spikey. They fall down on the ground. Some leaves are big. Some trees are beautiful and colourful.
